Edwin: Hey. I'm guessing you already heard...a few days ago I was attacked by a bunch of...well, the best way I can describe them is "sahuagins".

Goose: okay

Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: Shauagins? What is a "Sahuagin?"

Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: Oh yeah? And how did that happen?

Edwin: Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: How did this happen?

Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: Tell me more

Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: What happened?

Edwin: I was laying down at Kalamalka beach at the end of the dock three days ago. Suddenly I heard an incessant hissing noise. I sat up and saw some weird fish-man thing climbing up the ladder to the dock. Then there was a splash and a thud, and another one landed a couple feet away from me and stated making the ame noise. I heard a splash and jolted forward, and anther one landed right where I was standing. They looked like they were gonna kill me, so I ran. There was another one at the side of the dock but I ran past that one pretty easily. I was almost at the end of the dock when another two jumped out of the water and in my way. I jumped into the water and ran to shore, then accross the beach, to the parking lot, then I got into my car. I looked back as I was driving away. There had to be two dozen of them, all making that shusing noise

Goose: When did this happen?

Edwin: Three days ago, at about nine o'clock at night. I was there for just a few minutes before they attacked me.

Goose: Why were you out at that time of night?

Edwin: Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: Any idea why?

Edwin: Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: Why were you out at the beach during November?

Edwin: I was just relaxing. It's been a busy week.

Goose: I don't think I believe you

Sounds like you don't believe me. Wonderful.

Goose: How could I believe you?

Sorry, I'm a bit distracted. Do you think you could rephrase that?

Goose: I don't believe you.

Edwin: Sounds like you don't believe me. Wonderful.

Goose: You're lying

Edwin: I'm not making this up! This all really happened. It was pretty scary.

Goose: where's your proof?

Edwin: Well it sure is nice to know that somebody believes me. Thanks for nothing.
